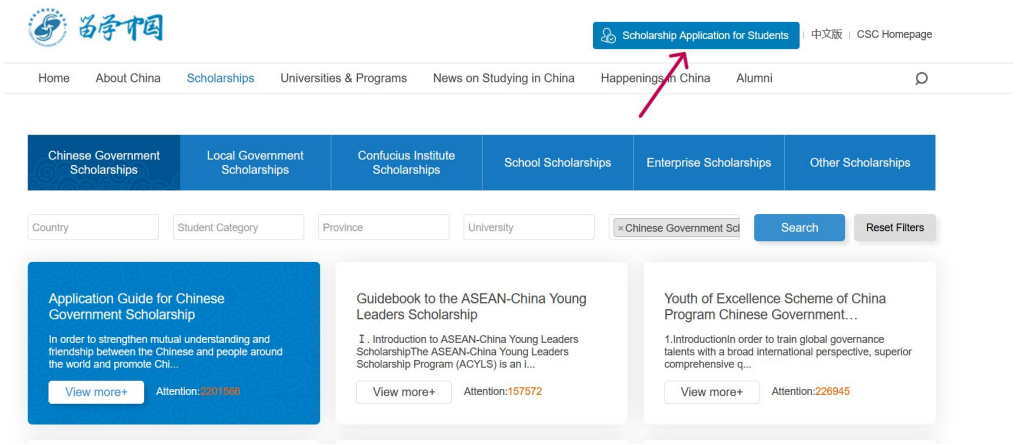
Application for Chinese Government Scholarship 2027-2028

Guide for the Online Application

Visit https://www.campuschina.org/ and select Scholarship Application for students.

Please use Firefox or Internet Explorer (11.0). Please close the “compatibility View mode” before editing.

Select English -> New User -> Create an Account



1. Personal Information

Programme Category and Agency No.

Programme category: Select Type A.
Agency number: The agency number for the Chinese Embassy in Switzerland is 7561.

Important: Make sure you enter the correct programme category and agency number. As both of them are directly matched, application processing authorities will not receive your online application if they are incorrect.

Surname / Given Name

Enter your name and first name exactly as they appear in your passport.

Passport Number

Important: If the validity period of the currently held passport is less than 12 months from the expected start date of your studies, please renew the passport and use it to complete the scholarship application. An applicant who fails to apply for a passport due to objective reasons may submit valid documentation or documentary evidence that carries information about the full English name, gender, nationality, and date of birth of the application upon the approval of the application receiving agency.

Permanent Contact

Provide a permanent address where you can always be reached. This address may also be used for correspondence during your stay in China or during university holidays (for example, your parent's address).

Present Contact

Provide your current residential address (for example: your address during your studies), mobile phone number and personal email address. This information allows you to be contacted quickly in case of an emergency.

2. Education and Employment History

Highest Education

Indicate your current educational institution and study programme (Bachelor, Master, etc.) and the expected duration of your studies.

Other Education Certificates

List your previously obtained qualifications. For example:

- If you are currently studying for a master's degree, indicate your bachelor's degree
- If you are currently pursuing a bachelor's degree, indicate your secondary school-leaving qualification (Matura)

All documents must be submitted in English and accompanied by a certified English translation.

Employment History

Only include long-term employment or professional experience relevant to your studies.

3. Language Proficiency and Study Plan in China

Chinese Proficiency

If you intend to study Chinese language courses, it is recommended that you select FAIR or GOOD or the equivalent level, to avoid having your language proficiency assessed too low.

Apply As

Select the category that corresponds to your intended studies in China:

- General scholar: if you wish to attend Chinese language courses without pursuing a degree (non-degree programme).
- Senior scholar: if you already hold a master's degree or a higher academic qualification.
- Bachelor's degree: if you wish to pursue or complete a bachelor's degree in China.
- Master's degree: If you wish to pursue or complete a master's degree in China.
- Doctoral degree: If you wish to pursue or complete a doctoral degree in China.

Important: Please check the applicable age limits before submitting your application.

CSCA-Test

Applicants wishing to obtain or complete a bachelor's degree must register for and take the CSCA test before the application deadline and obtain a valid test score report. Please visit www.csca.cn for information about deadline and how to access the registration portal.

Please contact your chosen university to find out which examination subjects are required for your intended field of study and to obtain the relevant examination information.

Preferred Teaching Language

Programmes in Chinese language and literature, as well as Chinese language and culture, are always taught in Chinese.

For bachelor's programmes taught in Chinese, an HSK Level 3 certificate is required. For master's and PhD programmes taught in Chinese, an HSK Level 4 certificate is required.

Some programmes are also taught in English. Depending on the university, applicants may be required to provide an IELTS or a TOEFL certificate.

Preferences of Institution

When applicants submit a "Type A" application, the system will automatically match the available universities according to the selected "Student Category, Preferred teaching language".

You can find a list of designated Chinese universities, organised by region, as well as the study programmes they offer, on the CSC website: https://campuschina.org/content/details3_74776.html

*Catalogue of Discipline Field, First-level Discipline, Specialty" is available from the "Help" button, applicants can download the file to identify the relation between discipline and major.

Duration of the Major Study

Indicate the intended duration of your studies in China.

The autumn semester generally begins at the beginning of September. You should therefore indicate your planned study period. For example:

From 2027/09/01 to 2028/07/31

For long-term degree programmes (bachelor's, master's etc.) indicate the full expected duration of your studies in China.

4. Contact in China

You may provide the contact details of the Embassy of Switzerland in China:

Embassy of Switzerland
3 Sanlitun Dongwujie
100600 Beijing, China

Telephone: +86 10 8532 8814
Email: xx@eda.admin.ch

5. Supporting Documents

Please visit our website page with the details of the required documents: https://www.swissuniversities.ch/service/stipendien-ausland/regierungsstipendien/chinese-government-scholarship

IMPORTANT :

- You do not need to send the medical examination form to the Scholarship Service of swissuniversities, as swissuniversities does not archive confidential medical documents.
- We recommend waiting until your host university contacts you before submitting the medical examination form. You can directly ask them when they need the document.
- Keep all original documents with you, as you may need them upon arrival in China.
