Study Plan

This section collects information about your proposed plan of study in the U.S.

1. Select the degree objective to which you are applying.
 - Master's: Choose if you are planning to earn a Master's degree in the U.S.
Master's degree candidates must have completed a Bachelor's degree or Master's degree (or the equivalent of) to apply. Although the minimum time required for a Master's degree is one academic year, a student should expect to spend from at least one summer session to an additional academic year to complete the academic requirements.
 - Doctorate: Choose if you are planning to do a full PhD in the U.S.
If you plan to do four to ten months of your PhD research in the U.S. and to complete the PhD in Switzerland, choose "Visiting Student Researcher".
Ph.D. degree candidates must have at least two to three academic years beyond the Master's degree and have published work in addition to the Master's thesis. However, many doctoral students find four or five years necessary, and in some cases even longer. It is important to make sure that the previous studies in Switzerland will fit the PhD program of the preferred university. Admission at the PhD level is highly competitive.
 - Non-Degree: Choose if you are planning to concentrate on full-time coursework in the U.S. for one semester or a full academic year during your current or prospective Master studies in Switzerland (or any other country outside the U.S.).
 - Visiting Student Researcher: Choose if you are planning to conduct graduate research. Visiting Student Researchers are typically enrolled in a PhD program and have already developed a PhD dissertation topic. No Visiting Student Researcher should be on schedule to complete their PhD studies before arriving in the U.S., or while in the U.S. Graduate students who wish to conduct research during their Master's program or after completing their Master's degree should also apply for a Visiting Student Researcher position.

The primary objective is 4 to 10 months of research with a limitation of one or two courses. Candidates should be presenting proposals that can be completed within their original grant period (that is, no more than one academic year). If an applicant presents a longer research proposal, their goals are not aligned with the parameters for Visiting Student Researchers in the Fulbright Program. Visiting Student Researchers should not expect to be able to extend their research. Under worldwide Fulbright policy, extension of sponsorship for Visiting Student Researchers is only possible if circumstances beyond the grantee's control have prevented scheduled research completion. Further, Visiting Student Researchers are not eligible for academic training or on-campus work authorization.

Information about the requirements of a hosting institution and the placement process for Visiting Student Researchers can be found on Fulbright Online.

2. Select the most appropriate major academic discipline and primary specialization from the drop-down menus.
 - a. Some fields, such as Arts and Architecture, will trigger a message that you are required to upload portfolio materials as part of your application. You will be able to upload materials on the next page. Please check Appendix 1, page 4 for instructions on what to provide.
3. Enter a brief description of the field in which you plan to specialize in the United States in the text box.
4. Enter a brief description of your future plans in the text box.

Supplemental Materials

The following form can be downloaded on the country information page:

Transcript Release Form (for post-secondary U.S. transcripts only)

The Transcript Release Form is needed for those students who attended a post-secondary program (undergraduate or graduate) in the U.S. Fees for acquiring multiple copies of U.S. postsecondary transcripts will be covered by the Fulbright Foreign Student Program.

Recommendations

Use this section to register your recommenders. You must have three letters of recommendation submitted on your behalf. Your recommenders must complete the forms online and submit electronically. Recommendations must be written in or translated into English.

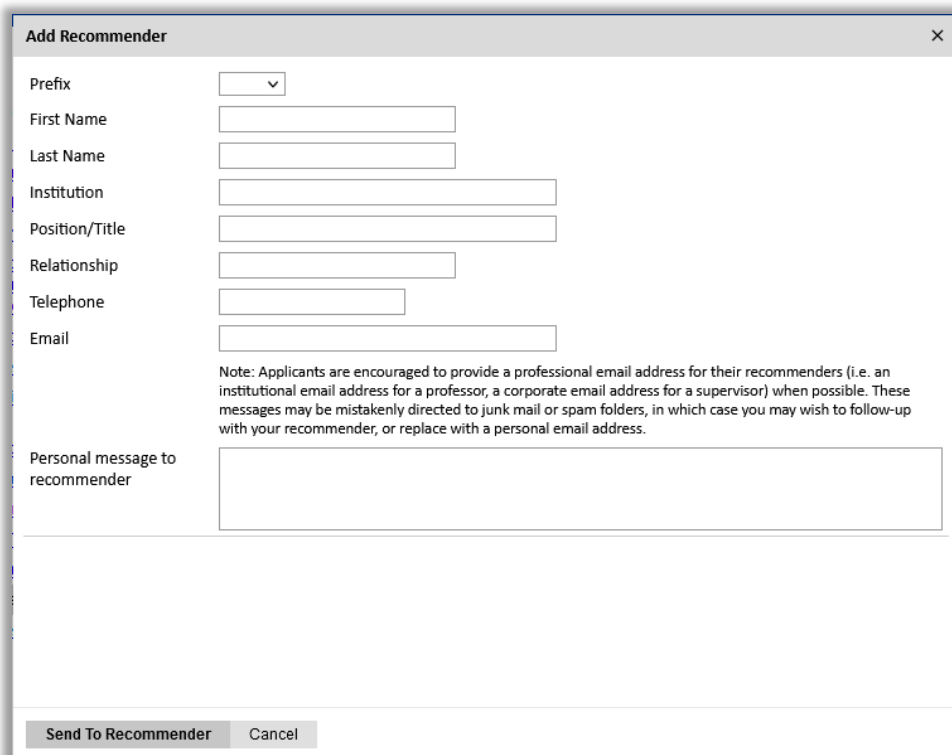

Once you register your recommenders, they will receive an automatic email with instructions on completing the online recommendation form. It is strongly recommended that after registering you contact your recommenders to make sure they have received the instruction email. In some rare cases the receiving computer system's firewall may block the notification email.

If you register your recommenders first, they have time to submit their letter of recommendation to your application while you are working on it. You can track the status of recommendations, send reminders, and add/delete recommenders through this system before and after submission of your application. Late referee reports cannot be accepted.

If you are selected for a grant, your letters of recommendation will be sent to several universities; therefore your recommenders should not mention any specific universities that you might want to attend. It is often helpful to obtain recommendations from professors or university teachers who have studied in the U.S. or who are acquainted with faculty members in the U.S.

Important: Please check the guidelines for requesting a letter of recommendation in Appendix 4.

1. Click Add Recommender.
2. Complete all fields in the pop-up form:

The screenshot shows a pop-up window titled "Add Recommender" with a close button (X) in the top right corner. The form contains the following fields and elements:

- Personal message to recommender: A large text area for a message.
- Buttons: "Send To Recommender" and "Cancel" at the bottom.

3. Click Send to Recommender to generate automatic email to recommender.

Information on Supporting Documents

Fulbright Foreign Student Program

Academic Materials

Required academic materials

- a) Diploma: A copy of your university or post-secondary diploma for each university or post-secondary degree awarded to you with original English translation (if the original of the diploma was not issued in English)
- b) Diploma Supplement: A copy of the Diploma Supplement(s) in original language and in English (unless the original document is already issued in English or in multiple languages)
- c) Official transcript: An OFFICIAL transcript with original English translation (if the original of the transcript was not issued in English)
An OFFICIAL transcript is a copy of the original transcript issued by the higher education institution and certified by the university with a signature and stamp in a sealed envelope. Copies of transcripts certified or notarized by a third party (i.e. public notary) will NOT be accepted as official.
An OFFICIAL transcript must list all subjects taken and grades earned for each year/semester of study. If the transcript includes courses where only fair or pass grades are given, you must ask the university to verify this on your documents, so they are clearly identified.

Please note:

- You must provide an OFFICIAL transcript from each university or post-secondary institution you attended, even those schools from which you did not receive a degree or diploma (e.g. Erasmus/SEMP or other student exchange programs).
- All academic documents not originally issued in English must be translated into English. You need to submit official transcripts and diploma(s)/diploma supplement(s) in both the original language (e.g. German or French) and in English. The English translation only is not sufficient.

If the university does not issue an official copy in English, you will need to provide a translated copy. Translations of academic documents should be done by someone authorized to issue translations. This can be a notary or an official translator (www.astti.ch).

Please ask the translator to send an original translation directly to the Scholarship Service of swissuniversities (address see below). Make sure you also get an original translation so you can scan it and upload it to your online application.

- Special note for Visiting Student Researchers: PhD candidates who are planning to pursue a research stay at a U.S. institution are requested to include documentation from their home university confirming that the candidate is presently enrolled in a PhD program (e.g. letter in English from the admissions office or faculty).

Electronic copies

Electronic copies of transcripts, diploma(s) and diploma supplement(s) with original English translations must be uploaded to the Fulbright online application in the "Academic Materials" section. Upload the documents a – c (see "Required academic materials" on page 1) available for each institution from the list in the following order:

1. Copy of diploma in original language
Copy of diploma in English
2. Copy of Diploma Supplement in original language
Copy of Diploma Supplement in English
3. Copy of transcript in original language
Copy of transcript in English

Hard copies of official transcripts

Hard copies of official academic transcripts accompanied by original English translations (when necessary) must be submitted to swissuniversities by the application deadline of August 5, 2024.

IMPORTANT: Official transcripts must be sent in a sealed envelope directly from the higher education institution to the Scholarship Service of swissuniversities to the following address:

swissuniversities
Scholarship Service
Effingerstrasse 15 / P.O. Box
3001 Bern

If the official transcript is not sent directly to swissuniversities then the transcript must be handed to swissuniversities in a sealed envelope. Any transcripts not received in a sealed envelope are NOT considered official.

Standardized Testing (TOEFL, GRE, GMAT)

It is a standard admission requirement of U.S. institutions for international applicants to provide a TOEFL score. You might also be required to take one of the following standardized tests to obtain admission to a U.S. university: GRE General Test, GRE Subject Test or GMAT. Please check Appendix 6 for test requirements by field of study. You will find further information on standardized tests at <http://www.ets.org> and at <http://www.mba.com>.

TOEFL: Schools will not accept applicants officially without the TOEFL score. There is no universal minimum score requirement across programs or institutions. For example: An Integrated Marketing/Communication Program would typically have a higher required minimum score than a Mathematics Program. 80 to 100 is the required TOEFL iBT minimum for many institutions. Programs may also require minimum sub-scores, the most common being 20 to 25 for each TOEFL section.

GRE: The GRE is highly recommended for Master's and Doctoral candidates in most fields to maximize program options and ensure candidates meet requirements for all programs. Candidates in the STEM fields are required to take the GRE exam. GRE is not required for Arts, Law, and Business fields. Most programs do not have a universal minimum score requirement but list the average score range of those who have been admitted in the past. Minimum score requirements, if any, are usually set by individual departments within the institutions. For example: Quantitative scores are weighed more heavily in Engineering programs while verbal scores are expected to be higher in Education programs. Regardless of field of study, candidates should automatically retake the GRE if they are below the fiftieth percentile in any section.

GRE Subject Test: If a candidate is studying Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics or Psychology, he or she may need to take the GRE Subject test. Programs requiring the GRE Subject Test will consider an application incomplete if there are no scores available for review. GRE Subject Tests are administered in September and October of each year.

GMAT: The GMAT is required for Master's and Doctorate candidates in Business. A minimum 550 GMAT score is required for Master's candidates; a minimum score of 600 is required for Ph.D. candidates. Candidates should sit for the GMAT exam in summer. Many U.S. business schools conduct first-round selections in November or December. If a candidate is requested to retake the exam to meet minimum standards or to be more competitive for particular programs, sufficient time remains to retake and have schools receive scores in time for admission consideration.

GMAT vs. GRE General Test for Business School Admission:

A small but growing number of MBA programs are now accepting the GRE General Test in lieu of the GMAT test. However, taking the GMAT examination will provide candidates with a greater range of institutions that a candidate may apply to, as the GMAT is still the preferred test examination for MBA admission. For Doctoral Business programs, IIE recommends taking both the GRE and the GMAT. It is left up to individual institutions to determine which exam they will accept for admission, and what their GRE and GMAT score requirements are.

Institution codes

Most universities will not review the candidates' applications for admission until they are in receipt of the official copies of the score reports. An institution code list is available during online registration or on test day and candidates can select their score recipients (designated institutions to receive their scores). To avoid any delays during the submission and placement process, due to missing score reports, Fulbright candidates must designate the Institute of International Education's (IIE) institution code:

- TOEFL
Score Recipients: Candidates can provide score recipients during registration.
IIE Institution Code: 2326
- GRE
Score Recipients: Candidates should provide the score recipients on test day.
IIE Institution Code: 2326
- GMAT
Score Recipients: Candidates should provide the score recipients on test day.
IIE Institution Code: Institute of International Education

Test scores availability

If you have already taken a test, please indicate the date of the examination and your results in the Test Scores section in the online application and upload a copy of the Test Taker Score Report to the Score Reports section. If official scores are not available by the time the application is submitted, please include unofficial scores when available. Alternatively, please note future test date(s) in the application. A copy of the Test Taker Score Report must be sent to swissuniversities when received.

These exams are NOT required by the August 5 application deadline. However, we recommend taking exams no later than September/early October so that score reports can be received by IIE by mid-October 2024. Early testing is important for several reasons. Candidates often need to take exams more than once in order to become familiar with the exam and get an optimal score. Furthermore, having test scores available at the time the applications of the selected candidates are submitted to IIE assists IIE's University Placement Services Division with selecting appropriate universities for the candidates.

Fee Vouchers

Annually, IIE sends TOEFL, GRE and GMAT fee vouchers to swissuniversities to be used by selected candidates as payment for these tests. (Note: IIE does not provide vouchers for IELTS). Since the vouchers can only be used at the time when registering for the test or on test day, please make sure that you contact swissuniversities for a voucher BEFORE YOU REGISTER for the test.

Please note carefully: As vouchers can only be provided after the selection meeting at the beginning of September 2024 to candidates who have been selected for the Fulbright Program, it is up to you to decide whether you would register for the exam(s) as early as possible to secure a place at your preferred test date or whether you would wait until the selection meeting to register for the test(s) to benefit from a voucher should you be selected for a Fulbright grant.

Portfolio Materials

Arts Applicants (Film, Music, Theater, Dance, Visual Arts & Design, Arts Administration, Art Education, Arts Therapy)

Programs in the Arts are extremely competitive and have rigorous and detailed application requirements, as well as very early application deadlines. Arts applicants will need to think about their application process in two parts:

Part One: We will need to send the Institute of International Education (IIE) a sample of your work with your Fulbright application. This sample will not be sent to any schools. This is just for IIE to understand your work.

This sample of your work will also be used for the Fulbright selection meeting in September and forwarded to the members of the Fulbright Selection Committee. It should be a selection of your strongest work that illustrates diversity and strength. It doesn't need to be large or extensive, but enough for the members of the selection committee and IIE to understand what kind of work you create. For example, if you are a sculpture artist, you can submit 5-10 images of your work; if you are a filmmaker, you can submit a video; if you are a designer, you can provide a web link of your work.

Please upload your portfolio materials in the Portfolio section.

Part Two: You should be visiting the websites of the schools that you are interested in applying. These websites will set the guidelines for the applications and will give students an idea of what is required.

Some schools have not updated the guidelines for the 2025-2026 application yet, but the changes will likely be minimal from last year, so you should read the guidelines for the 2024-2025 application period. (Please note: if you create a portfolio based on the previous year's guidelines and the school makes an adjustment for the 2025-2026 guidelines, you will be required to make these changes.)

The best thing for you to do is visit the websites of the schools you are interested in and read the guidelines thoroughly. Then you can start to compile the kinds of materials that will be required. You will also be able to see if there is any overlap in requirements from school to school. If you start compiling materials now it will be easier for you to submit your portfolios in case you will be selected as a Fulbright grantee.

Architecture Applicants (All Architecture fields including Landscape Architecture, Environmental Architecture, Urban Design (not Urban Planning), Architectural History, etc.)

In most cases, Architecture applicants will not need to customize their study objective. Writing samples are only required by some schools for PhD, but generally not for the Master's level.

A portfolio is required for all programs. Most schools require a digital portfolio, while a few programs still require a hardbound portfolio, so you should be prepared to provide portfolios in both formats. Individual portfolio requirements should be taken very seriously and can greatly affect a student's chances of being admitted. You will need to supply one portfolio to every school to which you apply. The submitted work should be representative of your development, include complete projects and, if possible, be relevant to the proposed field of study. Your role in collaborative projects should be clearly identified. Some schools may require original drafts of submitted work. Most schools will not return a student's portfolio.

You should be visiting the websites of the schools that you are interested in applying. These websites will set the guidelines for the applications and will give you a clear idea of what is required.

We will need to send IIE a sample of your work with your Fulbright application. This sample will also be used for the Fulbright selection meeting in September and forwarded to the members of the Fulbright Selection Committee.

Please upload an electronic version of your portfolio in the Portfolio section. A hardbound portfolio (if required by some schools) can be sent to swissuniversities in September in case you will be selected as a Fulbright grantee.

Resume Tips

A professional resume or curriculum vitae (CV) is a document that provides an overview of a candidate's academic and professional experiences. It is not meant to provide comprehensive details about an candidate's personal strengths; that is why it is submitted alongside other application materials like transcripts, essays, and recommendations. Follow the tips below to make sure your resume properly highlights your professional and academic experience without being too long or repetitive of other materials in your application.

General Tips

- Professional resumes are usually not longer than two pages; an academic resume or CV (curriculum vitae) can be longer if the applicant has extensive academic experience and publications to include.
- Experiences should be listed in reverse chronological order: most recent experience listed first, with the least recent experiences at the end of the section.
- Review your resume carefully for mistakes in grammar and spelling prior to submission.
- Resumes generally do not include:
 - Personal details, such as physical descriptors (height, weight, eye/hair color), birthdates, or hobbies/interests outside of employment or academics.
 - High school (secondary school) achievements or activities unless they've continued into adulthood and are relevant to employment or study.
 - List of recommenders' contact information; there is a separate section of the application for recommendations.

Sections to include on your resume:

Introduction (Heading)

- Only include your legal name as it will appear on applications, and basic contact information like email and phone number; home address is not necessary.
- You may include a short summary, but it is not required.
 - Summary should be 2-3 sentences at most. Include how your intended degree program will contribute to your long-term career goals, as well as a brief overview of your past academic/professional experience. Do not include any specific names of U.S. institutions where you hope to study; the same document will be sent to every school you apply to.

Education

- Begin with undergraduate education (anything after secondary school) and list every educational experience to the present, even if you have not completed the degree yet.
 - You may also list non-degree certifications and trainings if they are relevant to the field you are pursuing.
- Include each of the following details:
 - Name of institution
 - Location: City/country is sufficient – not a specific address
 - Dates you were enrolled: Month/year is sufficient

- Degree type and major/specialization
 - Example:
University College London, London, United Kingdom
Bachelor of Arts in Literature, August 2020 – Present
- You may include GPA if it is very high, but it is not necessary to include because you will also be submitting full transcripts with your application.

Experience

- Most of this section should be professional employment (experience for which you received financial compensation).
- You may include non-professional experience if it is relevant to your professional or academic goals and you had significant responsibility in that role. For example, regular volunteer work done for a charity or professional organization; leadership positions in student organizations; or non-paid contributions to significant publications can all be included on a professional resume.
 - Recent university graduates can include more non-paid experience than mid- or late-career professionals.
- For each experience, include the following details:
 - Name of employer/organization
 - Location: City/country is sufficient – not a specific address
 - Dates you were employed: Month/year is sufficient
 - Responsibilities and achievements in that role
 - Example:
 - University College London, London, United Kingdom
Teaching Assistant, August 2021 – May 2022
 - Took attendance, graded exams, and performed other administrative tasks for LIT 101 seminar.
 - Developed and facilitated exam review sessions that improved participants' outcomes by an average of 1.5 letter grades from midterm to final exams.
 - Implemented essay grading rubric that increased efficiency in exam review time by an average of 3 hours for each teaching assistant.
 - If possible, include both the regular responsibilities of your role and any significant achievements/recognition you received for your work. Strong resumes include quantitative details and evidence of accomplishments.

Research/Publications

- This section is not necessary for all resumes, especially professional resumes. This section should only be included in academic resumes (CVs) or for applicants in fields related to publishing work (like journalism, writing, or certain art/media fields).
- For academic resumes/CVs:
 - Different fields of study have different standards for what should be included on CVs, and in what format they should be listed. Please research CV guidance for your particular field independently or contact your home country Fulbright office with questions.

- This section can be more than one page for mid- to late-career academics.
- For professional resumes:
 - This section should not be very long; it should only highlight any significant achievements in your career, such as being published in prestigious publications or winning awards/recognition for your work.
 - Example: If you have professional experience as a journalist, there is no need to list every article you've ever published. However, if your work was picked up by a major newspaper or you won a significant award for it, you can list that on your resume.
 - Many fields require a portfolio of work to be submitted as part of your application; you should not repeat portfolio details on your resume.

Additional Skills/Achievements

- This section is not necessary for all resumes. Only include this section if you have specific skills or accomplishments that are relevant to your field of study and do not fit into the other sections listed above.
 - Example: Technology/software skills not listed anywhere else in application or fluency in additional foreign languages.

Essay Tips & Guidelines

Study Objective:

The study/research objective essay is a critical component of your application. It helps the reader better understand your proposed study goals and why you would be a good fit for academic study/research in your particular field. You should take great care to write a clear, concise, and detailed description of the program you want to pursue, that includes the following points:

- Be specific about your degree objective, major field, and specialized interests within this field.
- Explain why you are interested in this area of study or research.
- Describe the kind of program you expect to undertake.
 - How does this fit into your educational background?
 - How does this fit into your future objectives and goals?
 - If you prefer a program that focuses on theoretical vs. practical application or technical vs. policy, include this as well.
- How are your research interests relevant to current trends/challenges in your home country?
- How will you apply your studies upon returning to your home country?

Please pay close attention to these guidelines:

- Do not include references to proposed universities or faculty.
- The essay should be at least one page and no longer than two pages.
- Please use your own words; do not plagiarize. If you are planning to use someone else's works or research, you must credit the source at all times.

Personal Statement:

The personal statement essay is a narrative statement in which you give the reader more insight into you as an individual and your future aspirations. It should include information about your education, practical experience, special interests, career plans, and your personal reasons for applying for study.

- Explain who you are, what is important to you and what you intend to accomplish in your life.
 - Demonstrate your unique qualifications for your chosen field.
 - Discuss experiences, people, and events that inspired you to pursue this field of study.
 - Demonstrate your commitment to your field of study.
 - What kind of contribution do you want to make?
 - What do you intend to do with your degree?

Please pay close attention to these guidelines:

- Do not include references to proposed universities or faculty.
- The essay should be at least one page and no longer than two pages.

- Please use your own words; do not plagiarize. If you are planning to use someone else's works or research, you must credit the source at all times.

Writing Sample:

The writing sample (required for PhD applicants and some Master's fields of study) should always be related to your field of study and ideally within the area of specialization you are applying for. The sample should be 10-20 pages in length including a cover page and bibliography.

The writing sample should be a sample of your best work to enhance your application:

- It should be well written and show a good grasp of English.
- It should reflect your analytical thinking ability.
- It should show your grasp of the complexity of the topic.

The writing sample can be a published work or an original writing sample.

- If it is a published work, you should be the lead author of the article.
- If a published work, it should be from a peer reviewed publication.
- If it is an original writing sample, a chapter from a thesis or a senior project paper is ideal.

Pay attention to the writing style.

- Different fields of study may expect you to be familiar with the recommended writing style, these are:
 - Humanities, Liberal Arts, Fine Arts – MLA style
 - Social Sciences, Education, Biological & Earth Sciences, Business, Linguistics, Anthropology – APA style
 - Sciences – CSE (Formerly CBE)
 - Others – Chicago Manual of Style

Guidelines for Requesting a Letter of Recommendation

What is a Recommendation Letter?

As part of the application process to graduate programs at U.S. institutions, all candidates are required to submit three Letters of Recommendation (LOR). Recommendation letters provide further insight into a candidate's qualifications for graduate study and should include an overall assessment of the candidate's personal and academic characteristics, strengths, qualifications, and performance.

Tips for Requesting Recommendation Letters:

- A request for a letter of recommendation should provide insight into what you are applying to and why you are applying to it. For a writer to create a recommendation letter that shows you are a competitive applicant, you will need to provide the following information prior to having them write the letter:
 - A current resume
 - Any notable achievements or accomplishments both educationally and professionally
 - Academic interest and goals
 - Copy of your personal and study objective/research statements
- A recommendation letter should be written by someone who knows you well and can speak at length about your educational and professional character, work ethic, and performance.
 - Focus on work contacts and/or academic contacts depending on what is weighed more significantly by the admissions committee. This will vary by your field of study. Work and academic contacts should be ones that are/were responsible for overseeing work i.e., job supervisors, professors, or research advisors.
 - Recommenders should not be work colleagues, classmates, or a friend.
 - Recommenders should not be related to the candidate. Recommendations cannot be from a parent, sibling, or other relative.
 - Recommenders should be chosen so that they say different things about you.
- Time is important. It takes time for your recommender to write a good letter. Please provide several weeks' advance notice. A rushed letter does not always provide a comprehensive overview of a candidate's qualifications.
- Only ask those who can write a positive recommendation letter. A negative recommendation letter could hurt your application.
- Recommendation letters are confidential. A candidate cannot upload recommendation letters on behalf of a recommender.
- All recommendations must be written in English. If the original recommendation letter is written in a language other than English, there must be an official English translation. Because the recommendation letter is confidential, the translation cannot be done by the applicant.
- IIE strongly recommends that candidates register their recommenders as part of the online application process. However, if a recommender cannot complete the online form and upload a letter, they can submit the letter directly to the candidate's home-country Fulbright office.

Key Elements of a Competitive Application

Application:

- Take care to answer all questions to the best of your ability.
- Make sure that you spell your name correctly and in English; do not use diacritical markings, if you only have one name, use the last name field.
- Make sure that the information you have added into the online application text boxes displays completely.
- When prompted:
 - List all post-secondary schools attended, including study abroad programs, and list in order of those most recently attended.
 - List all academic, professional, and personal awards and honors achieved.
 - Write a clearly articulated study objective or academic goal statement. This is an important component of your application and is your opportunity to state what you want to study and to achieve. Be specific.
 - Write a personal statement that clearly details who you are and your experiences. You can both highlight your strengths and address any inconsistencies or perceived weaknesses.
 - Review the plagiarism agreement and acknowledge that you understand and will comply with the agreement.
 - Upload your resume or a CV (Curriculum vitae).
 - Upload copies of your student transcripts (Please note, official transcripts prepared by the schools you attended will still be needed and must be sent by postal mail to your Fulbright Office).
 - For programs that utilize IIE placement services, indicate up to 4 university programs in order of preference and share any other pertinent information that someone handling your placement should know if you are selected.

Letters of Reference:

- IMPORTANT! Letters of References should ideally be from people who know you well in a professional capacity.
- IIE recommends focusing on work contacts OR on academic contacts. Depending on what is weighed more significantly by the admissions committee—your work experience or your academic background. This will vary by your field of study.
- Referees should be able to speak to your strengths.
- Referees should be chosen so that they say different things about you.
- Note, in some educational systems the reputation of the referee is important. However, in the U.S. this is not a consideration if the referee does not know you well.
- Your referees must complete the reference letter in your online application. You must register them as part of the online application process.

Academic Transcripts and Translations (sometimes referred to as mark sheets or degree statements):

- Transcripts must list all courses and/or subjects taken and the grades received. Ideally, they should indicate when the course was taken. Most transcripts contain a 'legend' that will explain what an 'excellent' grade, a 'passing' grade, etc. is. (Please note a description of the course is NOT required).
- You must submit official transcripts. In other words, they must be certified by the school, e.g. the Registrar's Office or Controller of Examinations (Official transcripts may NOT be certified by a professor or other legal authority). Certified digital copies are accepted in rare cases, but most U.S. institutions require you to send transcripts in a sealed envelope.
- Transcripts should be in the official language of the country unless the school provides an official transcript in English.
- If a translation is necessary, it can be issued by the school or by a qualified translator. Translations must be literal—not interpretive.
- Note, for those individuals studying in Europe and completing a Bologna-compliant degree, a diploma supplement in English is also needed.

Test Scores

- IIE requires official test scores to be sent from the testing institution. An 'examinee' copy may be used while awaiting "official" scores, but eventually, universities will need "official" test scores.
- When taking the test, please make sure to indicate IIE as a test recipient.
- For TOEFLs and all GREs, the code is 2326.
- For GMAT exams, the code is FOF-4J-28
- For IELTS, select Institute of International Education from the 'Professional Bodies' listing.
- Note: TOEFL and IELTS scores are valid for two years. GRE and GMAT scores are valid for five years.
